Court No.3

Contempt Petition No. 266 of 2001

G.S. Pangti Petitioner.

Vs

N.S.Nappchayal Respondent.

AND

Contempt Petition No. 299 of 2001

Kuldeep Kumar Petitioner.

Vs

N.S.Nappchayal Respondent.

Hon'ble Irshad Hussain, J.

Heard learned counsel for the petitioners and learned Standing Counsel. These are two contempt petitions and it is not in dispute that the compliance of the order of the Court had been made in regard to both the cases. However learned counsel for the petitioners alleged that there was willful disobedience of the order of the Court on account of the long delay in passing the order of the promotion by the respondent authorities. Having gone through the material on record and the facts it appear that due to official transaction some delay was caused but it is not indicative of any willful disobedience on the part of the respondent authorities. Considering this it is not a case of contempt of the Court.

The petitions are dismissed. Notices are discharged.
